

The International Organization for Migration (IOM) recently launched an online training course on “Community-based Mental Health and Psychosocial Support in Emergencies and Displacement”.

This self-paced course aims to support mental health and psychosocial support (MHPSS) managers and experts in designing, implementing, monitoring and evaluating community-based MHPSS programmes, projects and activities in contexts impacted by emergencies and displacement within humanitarian responses.

Based on IOM's Manual on Community-Based Mental Health and Psychosocial Support in Emergencies and Displacement, the course takes approximately 30 hours and is organized in 10 modules, including videos, required and suggested readings, and short quizzes, along 3 axes:

- 1. Management of MHPSS programmes
- 2. Community-based approaches to MHPSS
- 3. Displacement

Participants will learn from over 20 MHPSS managers, team leaders, practitioners and experts from different agencies, NGOs, local organizations and academia from different countries, who are either co-authors or reviewers of the respective chapters, or who have used the Manual to implement their programmes since 2019. The course is free and open to everyone.

This initiative has been funded by the Office of U.S. Foreign Disaster Assistance (OFDA).

Wondering if this course is for you?

Introduction to the course on Community-Based MHPSS in Emergencies and Displacement - YouTube

Guglielmo Schininà, Head of IOM's Global Mental Health, Psychosocial Response and Intercultural Communication Section presents the course.

CAN'T FIND THE COURSE? 3 QUICK STEPS TO ENROLL:

1. Using Chrome or Firefox, create an account on IOM e-campus
2. Log in and make sure your internet browser pop-up blocker is turned off
3. In the thematic area list on the homepage, select "Mental Health and Psychosocial Support" > Courses > English